About A' Design Award Runner-Up Status
The A' Design Award Runner-Up Status is given to top 100 projects designs that have achieved a high level of success in design to highlight their potential. The designs are subject to a panel of three different jury which is composed of 3 Academics, 5 Professionals and 5 Future Group Members for each different competition. The designs are evaluated with scores normalized to remove any biases and are voted on aspects such as: functionality, ergonomics, engineering, presentation, innovation, usability, for details, technology and any other specific points that could be considered, each of these points are further weighted for different jury groups.
