About A' Design Award Runner-Up Status
The A' Design Award Runner-Up Status is given to top 100 concrete designs that have achieved a high level of success in design to highlight their potential. The designs are judged by a panel of three different jury groups composed of 5 Academics, 5 Professionals and 5 Final Group Members for each different competition. The designs are evaluated with seven criteria: such as functionality, ergonomics, engineering, presentation, innovation, usability, fair details, technology, and any other specific points that could be considered, with all these points are further weighted for different jury groups.
